A Taste of Something New

The newest restaurants in San Diego, from Oceanside to the Gaslamp

More than a dozen new restaurants have sprouted up around the county, everything from vegan and zero-waste spots to Thai and Italian. The theme these days seems to be creativity, with one spot giving Mexican dishes a French twist, and another making vegetable-infused breakfast cocktails. Intrigued? Read on to see what's new in San Diego dining. ♦

Gaslamp Breakfast Company / Gaslamp

Rise and Shine Hospitality Group opened the second location of its new Breakfast Company brand in the Gaslamp Quarter. (The first location opened last year in North Park.) The Breakfast Company signature is fruit- and vegetable-infused breakfast cocktails, which accompany a hearty menu of sweet and savory pancakes, waffles and French toast, as well as Mexican specialties.
